ABOUT THE PROJECT

The "Reorienting to Recovery" seeks to engage interested parties across the salmonid landscape in an inclusive, collaborative, and structured process to:

- Identify a suite of implementable and impactful actions that will advance the recovery of the four distinct runs of California Central Valley (CV) salmon and steelhead throughout their life cycle; and
- Establish broad support and buy-in for these preferred actions by making trade-offs transparent and balancing participants' diverse values, perspectives, and priorities.
